INTRODUCTION.

As I have been asked by Dr. Furnivall to write a few words, by way of Preface to the present volume, I have much pleasure in doing so, chiefly out of gratitude to the compilers of this Index, Miss Isabel Marshall and Miss Lela Porter, who for many years gave their scanty leisure to this dull and laborious work, out of their love for Chaucer, and their desire to help earnest students of him.

The value of a Ryne-Index is not, perhaps, apparent on the surface to all lovers of Chaucer. But to the student of language, and above all, to an editor,* it is a most precious boon, for many reasons. Of these perhaps the chief is, that it is only by such help that we can get back to the pronunciation of Chaucer himself, and can check the mistakes that may be made, even in his language, by the various scribes. It is not easy to realise, at first, that none of the extant MSS. do more, at best, than give us the right words. The right pronunciation is a matter of inference, to be gathered partly from the usage of the best scribes, and partly from the still more valuable evidence afforded us by the use of Ryne-Indexes. In attempting to edit Chaucer's Minor Poems, I soon found that Mr. Crome's Ryne-Index to the Canterbury Tales was indispensable, especially in the absence of the present volume, which would obviously have been of the highest service. Even the scribes themselves frequently respect the ryms to the extent of spelling final words more carefully; it is not at all uncommon to find that they carelessly use the spelling eye for 'eye' in the middle of a line, but at the end of it frequently (but not invariably) feel themselves compelled, for very shame, to use either ye (= y-e), the true form, or some such variant of it as yeo, yeo, or ile, because the diphthong ey would not rhyme.

This is not the place to enlarge upon this matter, or it would be easy to write a long essay to show what certain, what trustworthy results can be obtained by the constant use of a Ryne-Index, and in no other way. We can thus settle points of grammar and pronunciation, and even decide without hesitation upon the correct readings in many passages, where we should otherwise have no sure guide, and should have to depend upon mere guess-work. Perhaps an example may make this clearer.

In the Second Nunnes Tale, G 533, we find, in most MSS., the following passage—

But half-deed, with hir beke y-corren there
He lete hir ye, and on his way he went.
The cristen folk, which that aboute hir were,
With sheetes han the blood ful faire yhent;
Three dayes liued she in this torment, &c.

Now we learn, from the Ryne-Index, that we have here an impossible rhyme. Chaucer's word for 'he went' is he went-e, where went-e is disyllabic, and cannot possibly rhyme with yhent and torment; and therefore cannot be the right word. The solution is fortunately given by the excellent

Cambridge MS., which offers us the alternative reading is went, which alone is correct. The past participle of a weak verb has no final e, whereas the past tense takes one. This may seem, at first, a small matter; but it ceases to become so when we find that so good an editor as Tyrwhitt was unaware of this elementary grammatical fact, and has given us quite a large number, probably several hundred, grotesque and impossible spellings of Chaucerian words, in consequence of his neglect of this one rule. A Ryne-Index would have saved him from this.

Many absurd theories have been founded on an ignorance of Chaucer's ryms. One is, that Chaucer used ryms in his early poems different from those which he used in his Tales; and therefore we must not reject certain poems because the ryms are unlike those of the Tales. For my own part, I believe there is not a particle of truth in the assumption, and that it will be henceforth dead, killed by the facts recorded in the present volume; and a good thing too! Let us take, for example, one of his earliest poems, the Book of the Duchess, and look at his ryms in -ent or -ente, just the very point I have already illustrated. The result is full of instruction to those who have the wit to learn.

The list is element, ferment, 693; enchourment, yhent, pp. 647; stent, went, perf., 183, 357; went, e, went, perf., 397. Also entente, rente, 768.

Here the scoffer naturally, in his ignorance, pounces on the rymes went, went, as examples of the perfect tense in which the final e is wanting; but a moment's reflection will show where the fallacy lies. The final e is merely wanting through the scribe's ignorance; let us get back to Chaucer's own usage, and the matter looks very different. The rymes element, Armaunt, 693; enchaulment, y-bled, pp. 647, are quite correct as they stand, and are true rymes in -ent. Again, entente, vende are correct, being true rymes in -ente. We now have only to look at the rest.

'Went,' as a past tense, should be went-e; only, if it is, it would require that we should also have stente as a past tense in ll. 153, 357, and vente as a sb. in l. 398.

And first, as to stente in 153, 357. It is the past tense of a weak verb, and therefore takes its final e as a matter of course; in other words, the ryme is right enough, in spite of the scribe. It is delicious to find that he has recorded the truth, as against himself, and quite unconsciously. Wente, stente are the true Chaucerian forms.

And next, as to vente, sb., in l. 398. Well, it is a dative case, to begin with, and moreover we find that Chaucer frequently uses oblique case-forms even in the nominative. The true reading is—

And I him folwed, and hit forth went-e
Down by a floury gren-e went-e.

The scribe of the Fairfax MS. convicts himself of ignorance of the rules of phonetic spelling yet once more in the very same line. For, having amused himself by cutting off the final e in wente, he makes up for it by adding an impossible final e to forth, thus producing the form forth-e, though forth was never a dissyllable in the whole course of its life.

Surely this shows what constant need there is for continually checking the scribal forms by reference to the usage of the author.

We may learn even another lesson here, with respect to the sb. went-e. It is, that Chaucer often rymes words that are pronounced alike, if their meanings be different. If we turn to the rymes in the House of Fame, we again find, in the Index, went, n. obl., went, 3 pl. perf., 181. Here we actually find the scribe trying to impose upon us the form went in the past tense plural, which is even more absurd, if possible, than in the past tense singular. He is again wrong, and again we find the sb. went-e in the dative case.¹

And is a forest, as they went-e,
At a turning of a went-e.

A went is a path, and an editor should know this fact, and should know Chaucer's use of it. Otherwise, he may be tempted to 'correct' it, even as Dr. Sweet, in an unguarded moment, has actually done in the passage from the Book of the Duchess, by discarding wente in favour of wente, to the detriment of the sense (Second Eng. Primer, p. 43, l. 108). This comes of neglecting the usage of the author, who allows himself to use repetitions instead of rymes.

I must not weary the reader with such instances; but I cannot refrain from pointing out yet one more scribal error in the House of Fame, viz. the ryme of went with entent in ll. 2000, 2132. Of course it should be went-e, entent-e. Now please just to observe, that the form entent-e was correctly given in the Book of the Duchess, as already cited. This is how the scribes contradict themselves. And then the very same man correctly writes entent-es (and not entent-e) in l. 1267!

We shall now be able to perceive, at our leisure and with all security, that Chaucer's rymes in his Minor Poems are much the same as those in his Tales; which is a great comfort. I cannot conclude without again recording my deep sense of obligation to the faithfulness and persverance of the workers—Miss Isabel Marshall and Miss Lola Porior—who have brought together for our use this valuable mass of evidence. They are not responsible for the mistakes of the scribes, which, indeed, are really of no consequence, as they are easily corrected to the true Chaucerian forms. The fact that Chaucer rymes such and such words is the sole material fact, and this we are here told.

¹ Went-e, pt. l., again rymes with went-e, dat. case of sb., in Troilus, iii. 788 (or lit. 786, ed. Morris).

I am responsible for the Ryime-Indexes, at the end of the volume, to some of the spurious poems. As these are of less consequence, I have contented myself with giving the results in a much abbreviated form, by recording only the suffixes, and not the words. This method is less useful, but I hope it may suffice.

WALTER W. SKEAT.

POSTSCRIPT ON "THE ROMAUNT OF THE ROSE."

In my essay entitled 'Why the Romaunt of the Rose is not Chaucer's,' published by the Chaucer Society in 1884, I had no difficulty in showing that this poem contains a large number of rymes such as Chaucer never uses.

But the essay was founded on the assumption that the whole of the poem, as now extant, is by one hand. This supposition requires revision.

At the outset, the Glasgow MS. is obviously made up of two distinct fragments, which I shall call A and B. Fragment A contains lines 1—5813 (in Morris's edition); and fragment B contains lines 5814—7698. Between lines 5813 and 5814 is a great gap; for, whereas line 5813 answers to l. 5169 of the French text, ed. Méon, line 5814 answers to l. 10714 of the same.¹ And when we examine the fragments A and B more closely, we find great differences. Fragment B, for example, is nearly free from the frequent Northernisms that occur in A. Hence we may fairly assume, as was shown by Lindner (Englische Studien, xi. 163) that the two fragments are by different hands. Lindner further says, that fragment B, at any rate, is not Chaucer's; with which I agree.

We can go yet further. In The Academy (July, 1890), the important announcement was made that Dr. Max Kaluza, in carefully comparing fragment A with the French text, had discovered that even this portion is not all by one hand. It may be divided into two parts, called A 1 and A 2; A 1 ending at l. 1704 (or thereabouts).¹ A 2 abounds in Northernisms, and cannot be Chaucer's; but (with all thankfulness to Dr. Kaluza be it said) A 1 may really be his very own! This is surely a highly interesting discovery.

The result (if right) stands thus. The existing version consists of three fragments, all by different hands. These are:—

A 1; ll. 1—1704. Probably by Chaucer.

A 2; ll. 1705—5813. By a Northern writer.

B; ll. 5814—end. By an inferior hand.

It remains to test these results by the Ryme-Index. We at once see that A 2 abounds in non-Chaucerian rymes; I need not give instances, for I have already given them abundantly. Most of my examples were taken from this fragment, which is much the largest one.*

In fragment B, we find, in the very third line, that the past tense plural fulle is rymed with til. In l. 6108, we find alle list-e (as it would be in Chaucer) ryming with the pp. ayat. In l. 6131, we find the dreadful ryme: pacience, vengeance; in ll. 6471, the false ryme: force, croce; and so on. I shall not go farther; the reader can look about for himself.

I consider that my original proposition, that 'The Romaunt of the Rose is not Chaucer's,' is fairly justified; for it is true as regards ll. 1705—7698 (5993 lines out of 7698, or considerably more than three-fourths of the whole).

And now, as to A 1. The doubtful rymes are here so few, that they can soon be pointed out and discussed.

We must not go by the MS. spelling, but by Chaucerian forms; thus, at l. 29, we find the ryme befal: all. It should be befale, at-le; and it is all right. And so in other cases.

The chief difficulties are the following.

55; beue, wreue. Read been, wreuen. Been is the infinitive mood. Wreuen, to cover, is the same. We should have expected the form wryen; cf. Six-text, A. 3283; but wreuen is a legitimate form, for A.S. wreōan. At l. 759, read seen, teen; at l. 1101, read been, seen.

61; forgette, sette. Read forget, set. Here forget is the contracted form of the third pers. sing. pres. indicative; mod. E. 'forgetteth.' It is quite right; cf. vorget, Aeyen. of Juvet, p. 18, l. 18.

63; proude, shroude. Read proud, shroud. And so at l. 97, read drough, yough.

113; ryceer, nera. Read ryceer, neer. In Chaucer, ryceer rymes with deer, Cant. Tales, B. 1927; and neer with geer, G. 720; which suffices. So again, at l. 123, read ryceer, cleer; cf. C. T. F. 47.

165; Felony, Vilyng. Read Felonye, Vileynge; it is all right. See l. 977.

167; fonde, honde. Read fond, hond. And so in l. 729. So also, at ll. 203, 263, read wood, good, instead of woode, gode; at l. 221, torn, biforn, instead of torne, bi-forne; &c.

249; farede, herde. Read ferde, herde, as in C. T. A. 1371; a very interesting example. So again, at ll. 500, 673.

269; eneye, herteleje. Read eneyg, herteleje.

291; avrie, baggingly. Read avry.

335; pytye, she. Read pite, as usual; cf. l. 1235.

387; shulle, alle. Read shul, al. (For fette, read fred.) So in l. 711.

437; faire, pl, haire (a hair shirt). Haire is right; it is in the F. original.

451; wolde, solda. I note that wolde is the dative of wold, power.

459; mantelle, dette. Read mantel, del.

471; fokke, cleide. Read fof, pp; y-cel, pp. Cf. Book Duch. 252.

481; gardyne, therynne; cf. ll. 699, 1279. Read gardin, therin; see 511.

505; care, were; a false ryme. For were read fare!

509; engye, weymentyng. Read singe, infin.; weymentyng, dative.

511; engyne, gardyne. Read engyn, gardyn. Note that the prep. in rymes with gyn (short for engyn) in C. T. G. 1164. See 481 (above).

567; mirour, tresour. Read mirour (Squi. Tale), treasour; see l. 1603. This is a real difficulty; tresour (French treasure) should rather have been tressoure; cf. l. 599. However, the O.F. arnezure was turned into E. armour, and there is the well-known difficulty about the ryme of aventure and honour in the Complaint of Venus, 22.

591; daungerous, thus; see ll. 1491, 1601. Cf. vicious, thus; C. T. D. 2048.

603; fette, sette. Read fet, y-set.

673; herf, ferde. Read herde, ferde; cf. ll. 249, 500.

685; engye, unkunynyng. Read singe, infin.; unkunynyngs, pl.

769; tynstour, weere. Read tinbestoure, weere.

851; maale, hordde. Read maale, hade; see C. T. A. 554, 617.

873; amet, del. Read smyt, delyt.

- 875; verrele, ferele. Pronounced ver'de, fer'de.
 885; preyse, derise. Read pryse, deryse.
 908; sette, chapelett. Read set, chapelet.
 933; tygthen, writen. Read thriden, writen.
 945; welle, stalle. Read weel, stee; see Paul. Foules, 395.
 953; lasse, simplesse. Read lesse.
 1103; fyne, satyne. Read fyn, satyn; see 1557.
 1126; stome, shone. Read stoun, shoun; see 1555.
 1187; fresh, sarlynish. Read fresh, sarlynish.
 Latin word is due to F. sarrezinesche in the original.
 1201; goufaucon (?), vencon. Read gonfaucon; the original has gonfaucon. See l. 2018 below.
 1227; bistalde, odrade. Read bistad, odrad.
 1259; unseere, hire. Read here; cf. C. T. A. 2057.
 1313; loreyse, oliveris. Read loreyse (F. lorieys), oliceis. And again read oliceis in l. 1381.
 1341. (See this discussed below.)
 1357. lyke, sike. Ch. has syke, Ho. Fame, 1270.
 1375; cheseyns, fayne is. Read cheseyns, fayn is.
 1387; it, yet. Read yit; as usual. See l. 871.
 1397; kytte, eytte. Read kut, eet; as in Paul. Foules, 627, 628.
 1405; clapers, manere. Read claperes, maneres.
 1413; deyse, condys. Read deys, condys. Here condys is the pl. of condyt, a conduit; see conduit in Matmer, who cites the pl. condays, from the Aynbite of Inwyrt, p. 91. Similarly, Chaucer has avocas as the pl. of avocat, C. T. C. 291, ryming with allas.
 1453; dere, nere. Read deer, neer; cf. l. 113.

1489; dyle, preide. Read deyle, preyde; cf. C. T. E. 550.

1515, &c. Read straughte, draughte, sene (adj. visible), shew, alwaysed, betrayed.

1525; beere, there. Read beve, there. I take here to be in the subjunctive mood, as in C. T. A. 2256.

1579; cristalle, overalle. Read cristal, overal.

1617; seod, reid. Read seot, reed.

1621; panteres, bachelers. Read panteres, bacheleres.

1641. Read For sithen I had sore sykod.

1652. Read enclosis; where enclos is the F. pp.

Most of the above difficulties are due to the scribe, and are positive mistakes. It is significant that, as soon as the spellings are reduced to the usual Chaucerian forms, the rymes become perfect. A careful perusal of these instances will show that the difficulties practically vanish. Of those that at last remain, the most notable are only two. These are the rymes mirour, tresour, at l. 567, where we should have expected treasure, as noted above; and the rymes at l. 1341. The passage stands thus:—

If so be that he hadde me shette.
 For, if I with his arrowe mette,
 It hadde me greved sore, I wys.

This can hardly be right. Shette is false spelling for shet, which would require that the next line should run thus:—
 'For, hadde I with his arrowe met.' But even thus, all is not right, as this requires us to give to shet the sense of 'shot.' But the M.E. form of the pp. of sheten, to shoot, is properly shoten, whereas shet means 'shut' or 'enclosed.' We must therefore either suppose that Chaucer (if it is Chaucer's) has used shet for shoten (which, I confess, does not seem to me impossible), or else the passage is corrupt. We may notice that the pt. t. shette, i. e. shot, occurs in ll. 1427, 1777, 1861; whereas the true form of the pt. t. is shet; for it is a strong verb. I understand that Dr. Kaluza believes the ryming words to be shete and quete, infinitive forms. If so, we might read:—

• If so be that he wolde me shete.
 For, if I with his arrowe mette,
 It wolde me greven sore, I-wis.

As this difficulty arises in any case, it does not really tell either for or against the supposition that Chaucer wrote fragment A 1. Compare l. 899.

We may particularly note the absence, in A 1, of the ryming of -y with -ye. This is the more remarkable, because such rymes occur freely in fragment A 2 (see 2179, 2209, 2493, 2521, 2985, 3387, 3909, 5600, 5614) and in fragment B (see 6114, 6304, 6342, 6376, 6877, 7319).

I conclude that the rymes in A 1 are consistent with the supposition that this portion, and this portion alone, is by Chaucer. Dr. Kaluza will give us further details, and we may look forward hopefully to his results. If such be the truth, I must withdraw my former conclusion—that 'the English Romaunt is not Chaucer's'—as regards ll. 1—1704 of the poem, or less than a fourth of it. As regards the rest, or more than three-fourths of it, I maintain my position.

The Rymes in some of the Spurious Poems.

By PROF. SKEAT, Litt.D.

THE CUCKOO AND THE NIGHTINGALE.

The following index gives all the endings, with references to the lines in which the first of the pair or leash of ryme-endings occurs. The text is that printed by Morris, Aldine edition, 1866, iv. 74. The following corrections are necessary. L. 12. For nyce read nyce. L. 14. For eye read nyce. L. 51. Read day. L. 56. Read espale. L. 62. For the read beem. L. 63. Read dayye. L. 87. For eroute read eroute. L. 90. For chukhoue read cukhoue. L. 91. For lye read ly. L. 93. For eroute read eroute. L. 111, 112, 115. Read sey, cey, fey. L. 118, 119. Read pleyn, veyn. L. 127. Read twice. L. 128, 129. Read fayn, velayn. L. 144. Read veelfare. L. 166, 167. Read fayre, contrayre. L. 176, 177. Read despair, fair (cf. Cronin's Ryme-Index, under -ir); and, in L. 180, read hyr. L. 181, 182. Read uy, ery. L. 188. Read wood. L. 216, 217. Read anon or anon; ston or ston. L. 276, 277, 280. Read lord, vocont, accord. L. 286, 287, 290. Read look, brook, aveook.

The following rymes appear to be non-Chaucerian. L. 51. Here day, May ryme with the gerund to assaye. L. 62. Here beem rymes with grene. L. 86. man has to be altered to mon; I do not think Chaucer could have rymed mon with nyce. L. 106. eroute with thing; there is a difficulty about the ryme with eroute. There is the same difficulty at l. 238, where twice has to be twice, to ryme with bring.

The difficulties in the first three cases seem to me insuperable. It is necessary to correct an error in Cronin's Ryme-index, at p. 98, where seen is twice marked as 'inf', though it is really the gerund (A.S. seōne). The 'inf' is seen, which cannot ryme with grene.

THE ASSEMBLY OF LADIES.

(From the text in Chaucer's British Poets, 1810; p. 1226. As the lines are not numbered, it is easier to count by stanzas; the references are to the stanzas accordingly.)

THE COURT OF LOVE.

No Ryme-index is required to show that the rymes are non-Chaucerian. At l. 13 we have write ryming with aright, shewing that the sound of gh was lost; and many more instances of the same. At l. 79 we have gren-e, shene (miswritten for shyn-e), been; and many more instances to shew that the sounds of e and i were, at the time of composition, assimilated; in particular, note cke, lyke, 561; the assonance kape, flete, 309; ferre for fire, 623; company-ē (4170) ryming with destinee (!), &c. &c. A Chaucerian pronunciation of the final e would upset the scansion in a hundred places; thus l. 1433 would become—'And nam-ely haw-e-thorn brought-en both-e pag' and grome'; i. e. fourteen syllables in five feet. See my letters in The Academy, Aug. 3, 1878, p. 116; and June 22, 1889, p. 431.
